by Pearson

A better way to accurately measure English fluency for global business professionals.

Because the ability to communicate in English is becoming central in conducting business internationally, the need to accurately measure English fluency is critical. With proven technology, the E^Pro™ exam analyzes speaking, listening, reading and writing skills—of individuals whose first language is not English—quickly and more securely than any other test of English.

The difference is technology. Pearson, the experts in language testing and exam delivery, leverages its advanced automated scoring systems to score the 90-minute E^Pro™ Exam within days. Versant technology uses advanced language processing and speech recognition technology to evaluate spoken responses, while the KAT Engine evaluates the meaning of text.
