

Oxford University Press (OUP)

Oxford University Press is a department of the University of Oxford. It furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship, and education by publishing worldwide. OUP is the world's largest university press, with a wide global reach. It currently publishes more than 6,000 new publications a year, has a presence in around fifty countries, and employs more than 5,000 people worldwide. It has become familiar to millions through a diverse publishing programme that includes scholarly works in all academic disciplines, bibles, music, school and college textbooks, children's books, materials for teaching English as a foreign language, business books, dictionaries and reference books, and academic journals.

Oxford University Press is proud to offer online testing solutions and English language skills practice through www.oxfordenglishtesting.com. Here you will find placement tests for young learners and adults, practice tests for international exams, and skills practice for selected OUP courses. A Learning Management System (LMS) is also available for organizations.
